in Report From Officer of Collier Jupiter.

Washington, April 2.—Readiness of officers and enlisted men of the navy to risk their lives for others is strikingly illustrated in a report to the Navy Department from the commanding officer of the collier Jupiter made public to-day.

"On March 16 last," the report says in part, "Ordinary Seamen Curtis, Fritz and Anding went down in No. 13 hold of the Jupiter to coal the galley. Deand Anding went down in No. 13 held of the Jupiter to coal the galiey. Developments showed that poisonous gases had collected in this hold. Fritz, inding himself getting faint, started to go back up the ladder, but fell unconscious. Anding placed the hoisting line around Fritz, and Curtis went up for help. Seaman Stanley then went below to bring up Fritz. As soon as the latter had been removed, Anding himself dropped back unconscious. Boatswain's Mate Leitner then went down to put the line around Anding, but found he had fallen so far from the ladder that the line would not reach. He then tried to drag Anding, but was himself overcome and fell back into the hatch."

"Boatswain W., T. Shaw arrived at this time, went below and endeavored to drag the unconscious men to the ladder, but found he could not move them. Chief Carpenter Kempton and Ordinary Seaman Ferguson then went into the hold to render assistance, and Ordinary Seaman Curtis went back into the hold as second time. When the of the Jupiter to coal the galley ordinary Seaman Curtis went back into the hold a second time. When the executive officer arrived he had a line thrown into the hold from the coal boom, and Boatswain Shaw placed this around Anding and he was then hauled out.
